1

STEP 1 Check Your Eligibility

Are you an 18 year old Texas resident who can't tell a lie? Good news! If you're a US citizen/permanent resident alien and meet TREC's standards for honesty, trustworthiness, and integrity, you're in.

2

STEP 2 Take the required pre-license coursework

Educate yourself. Take the required 180-hours of pre-license coursework with AceableAgent and keep those course completion certificates in a safe place.

3

STEP 3 Apply through the TREC website

Make it official. Apply for your Texas real estate license and pay the $205 application fee on TREC's website.

6

STEP 6 Study the material

Study, study, study! Get started early, this test is tough so you'll want to make sure you're prepped and ready to go (we can help with that!).

5

STEP 5 Wait for your eligibility letter

Wait it out. TREC will send your state exam eligibility letter within 21 business days.

4

STEP 4 Email your course certificates to TREC

Show them proof of completion! Email TREC your certificates to prove you've completed the necessary coursework.

7

STEP 7 Get fingerprints and a background check

Background? Check! Once you receive your eligibility letter, schedule your fingerprinting on their website.

8

STEP 8 Schedule the state exam

It's time! Use the info in your eligibility letter to schedule your state exam with Pearson VUE.

9

STEP 9 Ace the test!

Put all of that education into practice and show that test what you're made of.

11

STEP 11 Celebrate!

Congratulations, you passed your test! If you have a sponsoring broker your license is now active!

10

STEP 10 Find a sponsoring broker

Before you can get your active license, you need a sponsoring broker. Shop around, be picky, and find your perfect match.
